Large Cap Growth Executive Summary Fourth Quarter 2011

PERFORMANCE SUMMARY

- Stock prices around the world rebounded during the fourth quarter, with the S&P 500 posting its strongest quarter of returns since the third quarter of 2009. The strongest performing sectors included Energy, Materials and Industrials, all of which were among the poorest performers during the market decline of the third quarter.
- Our portfolio positioning that favored economically sensitive companies benefitted performance during the fourth quarter, as stocks in the Industrials and Consumer Discretionary sectors performed well. In addition, we benefitted from good individual stock selection, particularly in the Information Technology and Industrials sectors.
- Nevertheless, we believe that 2011 witnessed a disconnect between company fundamentals and stock price performance as great as any year that we have experienced since 1999 and although negative sentiment eased somewhat in the fourth quarter and we performed very strongly on both an absolute and relative basis, we ended the year trailing the benchmark.

OUTLOOK

Positives:

- Corporate profitability is exceptionally strong. Boosted by strong exports and strict cost controls, U.S. corporate profits today are at all-time highs, as are profit margins. Balance sheets are also strong, as many companies have opportunistically refinanced existing debt to take advantage of today's low interest rates or have added to their already high levels of cash reserves.
- Consumers have also made progress in terms of their finances. According to Federal Reserve data, credit card debt is at its lowest level since 2004, and the debt-service ratio is at its lowest level since 1994. Consumer spending was generally strong through the holiday season and many measures of consumer confidence have rebounded since the summer.

Negatives:

- In our view, the European debt crisis will likely be resolved successfully, but slowly and with much additional drama and headlines.
- Clear challenges remain regarding federal budget deficits, high unemployment and a weak housing market. This combined with the upcoming election season and the associated media coverage will weigh heavily on market sentiment.

POSITIONING

- While stocks in the more defensive sectors of the market performed relatively well in 2011, they do not appear to us to be fundamentally attractive, especially on a valuation basis. While stocks in the Information Technology sector tend to be selling at P/E multiples far below their averages, stocks in the Utilities sector are actually selling at well above their average multiple of the past 20 years, even as the overall market is selling at a significant discount.
- We believe that safety is a function of value, and current valuations strongly favor companies in the Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary and Industrials sectors. It is noteworthy that the Technology sector today actually sells at a lower absolute P/E than the Utilities sector, even as its historical and forecasted earnings growth rates are significantly higher.
- It is also noteworthy that despite negative investor sentiment towards economically sensitive stocks, private-sector investment in equipment and software accounted for more than 60% of the total growth in GDP during the third quarter and is up more than 30% (on an inflation adjusted basis) between the second quarter of 2009 and the third quarter of 2011.

International Equity Executive Summary Fourth Quarter 2011

PERFORMANCE SUMMARY

- After a bruising third quarter, most equity markets rebounded convincingly in October but then gave up ground during the last two months of the year. As has been the case all year, markets ebbed and flowed on the latest developments regarding the sovereign debt crisis in Europe.
- The Renaissance International Equity Strategy capitalized on good stock selection during the quarter, leading to positive returns on both an absolute and relative basis. Stock selection was most evident in the Industrials sector where our stocks posted an average return of 17.3% while our Consumer Discretionary holdings, which represented 14% of the model portfolio during the quarter, gained 7% on average. We also benefitted from strong stock selection amongst our three holdings in the Utilities sector, which climbed an average of 15.3%.
- Conversely, the Materials sector was the weakest performer in both our benchmark and portfolio as investors debated the strength of recovery in the United States, as well as potential growth hiccups in China.

OUTLOOK

Positives:

- Most economists already see Europe heading into a recession in the first half of 2012, but other parts of the world, in particular the United States and China, are likely to continue to grow, albeit at levels below what policymakers would like to see.
- Helping achieve this growth is the fact that inflation rates around the globe are expected to decline in 2012. Waning inflation will allow for accommodative actions by governmental bodies such as the People's Bank of China, which recently lowered the bank reserve requirement, effectively easing the money supply in China in hopes of spurring economic growth.
- Although export growth has slowed, it is encouraging to note that export growth rates are nowhere near the lows seen in 2009 and that some countries such as China, Brazil and Japan are expected to show accelerated export growth starting in 2013.

Negatives:

- While signs of progress exist, the European debt situation is still unresolved and the situation is expected to impact market sentiment until such time that it is.
- Although concerns have declined, a possible “hard landing” and real estate bubble in China still loom as potential issues, which could result in additional market volatility.

POSITIONING

- While our portfolio typically has had an approximate 20% weighting in small cap companies, we had below average exposure to these stocks in 2011 of approximately 14.5%. This is a result of our decision to favor larger companies over smaller firms due to the fact that larger firms, in general, have better access to credit and are more able to withstand market gyrations.
- With regard to the geographic exposure in the portfolio, we have companies from 21 countries, including 6 emerging markets. At year end, our emerging market exposure stood at 32%, just below our policy maximum of 33%. We continue to favor South America, as we believe countries such as Brazil offer attractive growth rates, stable governments and limited exposure to the sovereign debt issues swirling around Europe.
- Although we have a 44% weighting in Western European companies, it is important to note that the stocks in our portfolio only receive approximately 25% of their revenue from Western Europe with limited revenue exposure to Portugal, Ireland, Italy, Greece or Spain.
- We expect equity returns to remain volatile well into 2012. Accordingly, we plan to continue minimizing our exposure to the European banking sector and favoring companies that do not rely on the European region for a significant portion of their revenue. Additionally, we continue to expect the developing nations to lead the global economy and anticipate maintaining our overweight in these markets. Although it will be impossible to completely inoculate the portfolio from market volatility, we believe that our focus on constructing high-quality portfolios of companies that are experiencing rising earnings, have solid financials and are trading at reasonable valuations should continue to serve our clients well.

Economic Sector	Ending Weight ⁽²⁾	Comments
 Telecommunication Services	13.5%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Valuation metrics remain strong for the sector. Given the defensive nature of the sector, we are seeing improved momentum in many names. Continue to prefer wireless providers to fixed-line companies. Overspending on capital improvements is a risk for many wireless carriers throughout the world. Also, a big concern for investors is regulatory risk, as seen in the Israeli regulator significantly cutting termination rates this year. Targeting emerging market wireless providers, especially in Latin America, where subscriber growth continues to impress us.
 Energy	13.2%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Revisions improving with rising oil prices. Currently hold a slight overweight due to higher oil prices and expectations for further M&A in the sector.
 Consumer Discretionary	13.1%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Auto sector continuing to mend, our exposure tilted to European suppliers with a growing emerging markets revenue stream. Targeting the growing incomes of emerging market citizens with our luxury brand holdings. Japanese supply chain disruptions caused by the earthquake are diminishing within the global automobile industry. We remain overweight relative to benchmark.
 Information Technology	13.1%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Looking to capitalize on secular growth of electronic gadgets, such as smartphones and the increased demand for technology services. Valuations are attractive on an historical basis, we remain overweight.
 Industrials	11.9%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Revisions continue to remain positive, especially within emerging market airlines. Still favoring developed market firms that possess a growing sales contribution from advancing economies.
 Consumer Staples	10.3%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fearing the worst, investors allocated funds to this sector as the Eurozone debt and banking crisis' continued to stoke fears of another recession. Maintaining a market weight with focus on advancing economies food and beverage plays.
 Materials	10.1%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> With the exception of gold mining companies, revision and momentum were negative for the group. We remain slightly underweight with focus on developed and emerging mining companies.
 Health Care	7.1%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> We are equal weight in this defensive sector. Stocks are screening well based on revision metrics, expectations remain high for this strong cash flow generating sector.
 Utilities	5.2%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Remain at overweight position in sector as valuations look compelling for names in Focus List. Exposure in Latin America, where economic growth continues to outpace the rest of the world implying stronger future demand for electricity.
 Financials	2.5%	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Further reduced our underweight relative to the benchmark. Lack of higher growth companies and fears of capital raising in European banking names cause us concern. Pulled back weighting in sector due to declining loan growth and increasing deposit competition in certain Asian markets.

Regional Perspectives as of 12/31/11⁽¹⁾

INTERNATIONAL EQUITY

Region	Ending Weight ⁽²⁾		Comments
Western Europe	43.7%	Opportunities:	Story of the haves and have-nots. Northern European nations better-off than Southern European ones. Latest funding approval for Greece provides temporary reprieve, may ultimately default though on debt. German economy still the leader in Europe, though showing signs of slowing.
		Risks:	European banks still dealing with Greek sovereign debt exposure, however ECB begins to help. Rating downgrades continue, are France and Germany next? Political resolve necessary to keep European Union together.
		Portfolio Positioning:	We continue to avoid companies with PIIG exposure and European banking institutions.
Pacific Rim	22.8%	Opportunities:	Growing incomes of citizens provide future consumers for companies operating in Asia. Appreciating Chinese Yuan would lower inflation and make imports cheaper.
		Risks:	Concerns surfacing about potential Chinese real estate bubble. Slowdown in European economies reverberates in emerging Asia.
		Portfolio Positioning:	Revision estimates score well for many companies, recent addition focused on Chinese leisure marketplace. Current portfolio exposure diverse, however Technology and Energy sectors are still our focus.
North America	16.4%	Opportunities:	Canada - no housing bubble, lower unemployment and budget deficits in comparison to United States.
		Risks:	Countries subject to commodity price fluctuations.
		Portfolio Positioning:	Diverse exposure, strong results from Consumer Staples holdings this quarter.
South America	13.3%	Opportunities:	Brazilian investment plan for 2014 World Cup and 2016 Olympics continues to progress. Commodity reserves (oil, minerals) remain strong, to benefit exporters as prices remain elevated.
		Risks:	Increasing government intervention in Brazilian business sector. Lower global GDP could hurt commodity export driven economies.
		Portfolio Positioning:	We look to maintain overweight in this region, with focus on Brazil, a country we deem a long-term winner for investors.
Eastern Europe	1.9%	Opportunities:	Growing middle class creating sustainable domestic consumption.
		Risks:	Geopolitical risk must be considered, Russia our biggest concern. Drop in commodity prices could hurt the Russian economy.
		Portfolio Positioning:	Limited availability.
Middle East	1.9%	Opportunities:	New political regimes could open markets to new investors.
		Risks:	Geopolitical tensions present challenges to the equity markets.
		Portfolio Positioning:	Currently limited opportunities on our Focus List. Only exposure to Israel.
